KNOWLEDGE UPDATE: CLINICAL CASE STUDIES

The intriguing and thought-provoking clinical cases presented in this course make it both fascinating and unique. In the pathology section, we offer multiple scenarios and a simplified, step-by-step approach to identifying and diagnosing lesions, along with guidance on treatment options. In the trauma section, we explore how facial bone structures protect vital areas like the brain and orbit. We delve into various types of dental and facial injuries, their causes, and numerous treatment methods. Lastly, we address the principal characteristics, assessment, and management of oral and facial pain in pain management.
